

Name	AGES AND STAGES QUESTIONNAIRE (ASQ)
Purpose:	ASQ is a screening tool for infants and young children to assess their developmental level
Short description:	ASQ are forms to be filled out by the parent for the assessment and the structured conversation about child's development. ASQ consists of 19 different questionnaires. The questionnaires are designed for children from four months to five years, and are available for ages 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 27, 30, 33, 36, 42, 48, 54 and 60 months. Each form consists of 30 questions about child's development and is in a simple and direct language with some illustrations
Academic area/skills:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Communication •Gross motor skills •Fine motor skills •Problem solving •Personal/social
Target group:	4-60 months
Survey method:	Individual
Standardization:	ASQ was standardized and validated for Norwegian conditions in 2003
Adapted/non-adapted to Norwegian conditions:	Yes
Published:	2nd edition, 1999; Norwegian edition, 2003
Author:	Diane Bricker, LaWanda Potter and Jane Squires
User groups/user qualifications:	Parents or others with daily responsibility or supervision for the child /Relevant education and training to be able to use the test